Corporate Social Responsibility

manubens

The firm's lawyers and partners are actively involved in academia through teaching, sponsorship and participation in advisory councils. They also contribute to the training of students either directly in the workplace or through scholarships.

Aware of the need to invest in society and to promote healthy relationships with the environment, Manubens collaborates in various ways with social and humanitarian organisations that unquestionably support the development of society. The firm is also firmly committed to protecting the environment.

Rosa María Vivar Foundation

Non-profit foundation born from the desire to provide people with Alzheimer's disease with a day-care centre specialised in non-pharmacological treatment, based on cognitive stimulation, through a new warm, welcoming and bright space.

Special Olympics

Sports group, whose main objective is to promote the practice of sports and other leisure activities for people with intellectual disabilities in order to foster their personal development and social integration.

Taller Ocupacional Ariadna

Ariadna Occupational Therapy Workshop

Association of mothers, fathers and guardians of people with intellectual disabilities, whose purpose is to defend the rights and improve the quality of life of adults with intellectual disabilities and their families.

PRAGMA

International Service

Conscious of the challenges posed by globalisation, in 2000 Manubens decided to set up, in cooperation with other international law firms, the law association known as PRAGMA.

Through the PRAGMA network, Manubens is present internationally, either directly or indirectly, in more than 50 countries.

Therefore, the Firm offers top quality legal advice to its clients wherever their interests lie. Thanks to this global structure, the clients are provided with optimal coverage and are advised by the best specialists, who will help them achieve their objectives in each of their projects.
